Personal Postal Messages To Friends In Enemy Countries

The Honorable W. P. Muleck, K. C. Postmaster General, announces that arrangements have been made by the Canadian Post Office Department for a system of Personal Postal Messages to facilitate the sending of brief messages between persons in Canada and relatives and friends in enemy-occupied countries, including Germany, Austria, Italy, Czechoslovakia, German occupied Poland, Belgium, Holland, Luxembourg, Norway, Denmark, occupied France and the Channel Islands.

Such messages are to be written on an official form and are to be confined to simple messages not exceeding 20 words which are purely personal in character relating to family news or enquiry as to the well-being of the addressee or his relatives and friends. Nothing of a political, economic or military character is permitted. Messages should be written in block letters and, if possible, should be in English, French or German.

The messages will be transmitted through the intermediary of the International Red Cross Committee at Geneva, Switzerland, on the special official forms which may be obtained through any Postmaster.

The fee for a Personal Postal Message is 25c which pays postage to final destination as well as postage from Geneva to Canada on the addressee's reply.

The scheme went into effect May 1.

The War With Dirt

A great war is now going on in the homes of the nation. The housewives have put on a uniform consisting of aprons and dust caps, and they have seized the munitions of war in the form of brooms, mops, and cleaners. We be to the dirt deposits that have gathered in the corner or attached themselves to the furniture.

The men used to hate housecleaning, because they came home to find the house in turmoil, and sometimes had to eat a hastily prepared meal in the woodshed. Modern methods have made the job easier. There are still some tired women folks at supper time, when they call it a day and survey the carnage and the triumphs of this war.

The husband can't see why so great an annual splurge is necessary. To them the house looks the same after cleaning as it did before, except that probably the furniture has been whirled around into new spots. The women folks say the germs and microbes have been given a terrific licking, and no doubt they are right.

Youths' Training School in Calgary, were Sunday visitors at the home of Mrs. Birkness' parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Sadler.

The routine of high school procedure was pleasantly interrupted for a few minutes today (Thursday) when the pupils presented Principal O. P. Thomas with a pipe and a shaving set as a farewell token of esteem. Miss Phyllis Chamberlain made the presentation and Mr.

O. P. Thomas Joins His Majesty's Air Force

On Wednesday evening the O. E. S. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. Gatenby held a farewell party for O. P. Thomas.

Everyone enjoyed themselves and the O. E. S. were out in strength. A very substantial purse was presented to him by G. A. Orr. Mr. Thomas ably replied and thanked the lodge, stating the relations with its members were the best of any in Champion.

This evening the O. E. S. was once more strongly represented in honor of Mr. Thomas, but this time the High School Students and friends were out to express their feelings of regret, their tokens of friendship, and their wishes of luck, as the train pulled in. The din of voices calling good-bye drowned the clamoring of the engine as it pulled the passenger into the station and stopped. The High School girls chanted one of the school calls as "O. P." boarded the train and many a tear was seen in many an eye as the train began to move. There was a feeling in the crowd, of dolefulness, and the silence with which it slowly left the place of parting was even more pounding in the ears of "Paul's" friends than the racket before his departure. There was something gone from their lives, a friend, and as good friends they all turned out to wish him well.

Paul, as all of his friends called him, was very active in the O. E. S., Masons, churches, and schools. He was an addition to the community that will be greatly missed now that he has joined the R. C. A. F. as a radio technician. His job will take him to unknown parts, perhaps many of us will never see him again, but in his going, and in our loss we know that somewhere there will be a man serving his country with all his might.

Our sympathies extend to his family, and above all Mrs. Thomas, who knows, better than all of us, the really fine person he is.

We will miss you Paul but your ever cheery "Cheerio" will forever ring in our ears.

MOTHERS' DAY

Throughout Canada and the United States next Sunday will be observed as Mothers' Day and we ask all our readers to honor in some practical way.

Like the sunshine and other gifts of life we often fail to realize the true value of motherhood until it is brought to our attention by the observance of a special day.

Yes, we could fill up this column with tributes to mother but we feel that such is not necessary. Each reader will have brought to his or her memory the many things for which we should give thanks to God for our mother. To most of us we attribute all the worth while virtues and ideals to the teachings of our mothers in our early years. Lessons which we never, never forget.

On Sunday remember mother with a kind word, act or gift if mother is still living. If she has gone to her eternal home, remember her memory in some practical way.

THEY SERVE WELL

When the present war is over there will be one group of citizens to whom Canada will owe gratitude to her armed forces. These citizens are men and women who are devoting their time and energies, day in and day out, to assist in the collection of monies which the country must have in order to carry out its war program.

Without remuneration, and in many cases at a severe sacrifice of their own personal interest, these citizens rally to the cause of the War Savings Certificate, the Canadian War Services Fund and War Loans. They no sooner close one campaign, when they must start in on another. With the February drive in behalf of War Savings yet to be completed, they switched their activities to the collection of money for the soldier services. Now they have gone back to continue the War Savings job. Next month they will be preparing to sell War Loan Bonds.

These conscientious Canadians deserve much more thanks than they actually receive for the work they do. That would help a great deal to offset some of the rude rebuffs they occasionally get from some unthinkable Canadians who are only being asked to contribute their share in the battle being waged for their protection.

These workers on the home front serve as emphatically as any other citizen in the country—their only compensation be ing the knowledge that they are carrying out a job that has to be done.

CARD OF THANKS

The undersigned wishes to thank the Carmangay west ball team and the Prairieville community for their kind remembrance on the evening of April 28th. Harden S. Atkin.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank Dr. Freeze, Dr. Wellwood, the nursing staff of Carmangay hospital and friends sending flowers, comforts and condolence cards during my month's illness. Harold Bach.

Grain Mites

True insects, such as moths, beetles, ants, flies, bees, etc., have six legs. Mites have eight—a fact which may help to explain why they have spread so fast! For this and other reasons mites are more closely related to spiders, scorpions, ticks, etc., than to true insects.

According to Dr. H. E. Gray, the female grain mite lays three or four eggs per day up to a total of about thirty. At ordinary room temperature, the life cycle is completed in about seventeen days.

When conditions are unfavourable, young mites may assume a resting stage. In this condition they are covered with a hard crust which prevents drying out. They can then live without food for months, during which time they may be blown about with dust or carried about on mice or flies. When conditions favour, they again become active and multiply.

Grain mites increase the moisture content of wheat. How? Starches and related compounds are formed in plants from water and carbon dioxide plus energy from sunlight. By feeding on dust, debris and wheat germ, mites digest these compounds thus gaining energy and giving off carbon dioxide and water. Infested grain may, therefore, become tough and spoil by heating. Infestations are particularly common in grain originally stored in a tough or damp condition.

Farmers should check their bins regularly. For further information, consult the local District Agricultural or Experimental Station. Government literature has been distributed to all line elevator grain buyers.
